NSEA CONGRATULATES MEMBER, GAIL HUDSON, NATIONAL BOARD CERTIFIED TEACHER (NBCT), ON BEING NAMED 2020 TEACHER OF THE YEAR

(Las Vegas, NV) — On Monday August 26, 2019, Gail Hudson, NBCT was named the 2020 Nevada Teacher of the Year.

“Gail Hudson is an exception educator and leader in Nevada and we are so proud that a member of NEA of Southern Nevada (NEASN) was chosen as Nevada’s Teacher of the Year,” said Brian Rippet, President of the Nevada State Education Association.

Gail Hudson, NBCT is a fifth grade teacher at John R. Hummel Elementary School in Southern Nevada, where she serves as the school’s Equity and Diversity Site Liaison and Title I Site Coordinator. With over three decades in the classroom, she is also a Nationally Board Certified Teacher, the most respected professional certification available in K-12 education.

Mrs. Hudson's well-deserved recognition comes with numerous exciting opportunities. As a member of the NEA of Southern Nevada, she is now eligible to be named National Teacher of the Year through the National Education Association (NEA). Further, she will serve as a NEA ambassador and represent the association at various educational events throughout the state. Along with her fellow Teachers of the Year from other states, she will take part in numerous professional workshops and educational events in Washington D.C., and overseas.

“The NSEA family is extremely proud of Mrs. Gail Hudson, NBCT and we are excited for the opportunities she will be rewarded with over the next year; she will represent us well,” said Vicki Kreidel, President of the NEA of Southern Nevada.
